Baby Galford, infant son of Jimmy and Mary Zimmerman Galford, died at birth Tuesday morning, April 6, 1976.

Graveside services were held Wednesday in the Cochran Cemetery by the Rev. Gail Cutlip.

On Sunday evening April 13, 1924 at 6:30 o'clock, the Death Angel came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Galford and claimed their darling baby, Wilma Christine Galford, aged one month and one day. Little Christine took whooping cough when about two weeks old. All was done for the little sufferer that loving hands could do, but God knew best, and our loss is Heaven's gain. She leaves to mourn her loss, father, mother, four brothers and one sister, one little sister having gone to the glory land just eight months ago.

The little voice is silent,
The little feet are still,
When the Lord said come
We knew it was his will,
We shall meet,' but Oh we miss her.
There will be a vacant chair,
How we lingered to caress her
While we breathed an evening prayer.

One less at home,
  The Charmed Circle broken—
A dear face missed day by day
  From its usual peace, but cleansed, saved, perfected by grace.
One more in Heaven,
  One less on earth,
It's pain, its sorrow,
  And its toil to share.
One less
  The Pilgrims daily Cross to bear,
One more
  The crown of the blessed to wear.

Mrs. Gilmore united with the Methodist Church at the age of 16 and remained loyal to her Christian faith both in her church and home. She rejoiced in her love and loyalty to her Savior and many times during her illness, expressed her readiness to meet Him, who said "Come unto me, all ye, who are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

She was a devoted wife and mother, a good neighbor, and a kind and loving friend to all who knew her. She was truly a virtuous woman, whose price is far above rubies. Strength and honor were her clothing, and she shall rejoice in time to come. She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of Illeness. Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praised her.

I cannot say and I will not say that she is dead. She is just away!
Think of her still as the same I say,
She is not dead, she is just away.

What shall we do with the year ahead?
I questioned my anxious heart,
As we stood on the threshold of the day,
Packed and ready to start.

And my heart made answer, How can we go
With the road so steep and long?
Surely, I said, We can start today
With a light heart and a song.

With only a step at a time to take
And our mind and our vision clear,
If we live by the moment, I said to my heart,
There will be nothing to fear.

And there will be strength for the hill ahead
And for valleys that lie below,
And God will be there, I said to my heart,
And it answered, Let us GO.

Mrs Maggie Alice [illegible] Greathouse, daughter of Harvey and Nancy Cassell Hevener, was born near Hosterman, West Virginia, April 2, 1874, and died December 13, 1937, age 63 years, 8 months and 11 days.

Her mother passed on, while she was but a young girl thirteen years of age. Her father died 23 years ago.

Having given her life to the Savior many years ago, she continued to love her church and serve it; her selected church being the Church of the Brethern.

On March 24, 1897 she was married to William C Greathouse, of Highland county, Virginia. This couple spent their entire life in Pocahontas county. To this union five sons and five daughters were born. Freddie died in infancy. Those surviving are Mrs A. E Sheets and Mrs W O. Rose, of Durbin; Mrs O. N. Cassell, of Cass; Mrs H F. Cromer, of Cheat Bridge; Herman and Herbert, of Durbin; Clyde, of Greenbank; Katherine and Ivan remain at home. She also leaves two sisters and two brothers; Mrs C. M. Ratliff, of Morrow, Ohio; Mrs Laura Shifflett, of Marlinton; Vanburen Hevener, of Tell City, Indiana and Adam Hevener, of Durbin. One brother, Samuel, died four years ago. Fifteen grandchildren and many relatives and friends feel their great loss.

Many friends, pastors and church workers found a welcome in her home. Mother was an active worker in the Primary Department of the church as long as she was able. She took great interest in the work of the Hevener Aid Society of which she was a member. She always took us to church while we were [illegible] [illegible]ing that children should be quiet in church as well as elsewhere. Always setting good examples for us to follow wherever she was.

Mother was devoted to her home, her family, her flowers and hand work by which her activeness was expressed. Not until the last two weeks of her life did she give up to inactivity.

Although Mother was not strong for several months, no one realized she was so near the end, until she told us she couldn't live much longer but was ready to die, and as she called each member of the family to her bedside, she said, "Prepare to meet your God, so when you come to an hour like this you too will be ready to come, so our family circle will be unbroken in Heaven." On December 10 she suffered a paralytic stroke, and never again spoke.

No words can tell how we miss Mother; she was so kind and considerate; so helpful to all. We cannot realize that she is dead—but just away. All was done that loving hands could do, but God's will be done.

Her funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. I. J. Garber, assisted by Rev. G. D. Naylor. The service was beautifully centered around a favorite Scripture: John 11. The Durbin choir sang two requested numbers "Gone Before" and "We are Going Down the Valley." A large group of sad relatives and friends testified to the love and esteem with which she was held. Interment was made in the Bethel Cemetery.

Sunday, February 10th, 1924, at the home of his son, George Hill, at Hillsboro, W. Va., from feebleness and infirmities incident to old age. On April 11, 1867, Mr. Hill was united in marriage to Miss Margaret J., daughter of Ebenezer and Sallie McMillion Whiting, and they spent almost 56 years of wedded life together, Mrs. Hill dying March 16, 1923. Mr. Hill during his active years was an energetic, useful business man and built up home and farm and accumulated quite a wealthy property being stockholder in some of his county banks, also having shares in the Telephone Co, and interested in the business of his county.

He was postmaster at Jacox, from the time the postoffice was established until late in the year of 1912, when the marriage of his daughter Anna and his failing eyesight compelled him to resign from that position.

fessed his faith in Christ at a camp meeting held near Millpoint, and united with the Methodist church and for nearly 70 years remained a member. We trust that he has changed his membership to the church triumphant of God.

Besides his children and grand children he leaves two aged brothers, D. C. Hill, of Jacox, who is in his 83rd year and William, of New London, Iowa; and a wide circle of relatives scattered to the far points of the U. S.

FRENCH HOOVER DROWNED

On last Friday evening, December 1, 1928, between five and six o'c French Hoover lost his life by drowning in Knapps Creek just above Kramer's Camp, about half way between Marlinton and Huntersville.

The night was dark, and rainy and foggy. The creek was at flood stage and getting deeper from twenty-four hours of rain on a big snow in the mountains. Mr. Hoover left Marlinton about half past five o'clock in a closed automobile to drive to Huntersville.

A little before six o'clock Isaac Barlow was coming to Marlinton and saw a car out in the middle of the stream. His attention was attracted by the lights. He could see no one in the car, and he hurried to town for assistance.

In a short time a number of men were on the scene. The car had washed down several hundred yards and toward the opposite side of the stream. C. R. Cooper swam the swift flowing waters to the car to see if the driver was still in it. The automobile was identified as Mr. Hoover's by the license number. He had been washed out through the top, which was broken when the car was turned over.

Search was made through the night for Mr. Hoover, but his body was not found until noon the next day. The water had receded and his body was seen at the lower end of a small island, over a quarter of a mile below the place where his automobile went over the bank into the stream.

His body was taken to Z. S. Smith's undertaking parlors. The physicians decision was that Mr. Hoover had come to his death by drowning. There were signs that he had received heavy blows on the chest and on the head when his car turned over. At the place where the automobile went into the creek the water ran deep and swift right at the edge of the road. There were wheel tracks to show that the car had been at the edge of the bank for some distance before turning over. A reasonable supposition is that the heavy rain and fog prevented him from seeing the road.

Two years ago near this place two other men, John Mann and Aaron Thomas were drowned when their car went over the road into Knapps Creek on a foggy, stormy night.

On Sunday Mr. Hoover's body was taken to his old home at Thorn, in Pendleton county for burial. The funeral service was conducted on Monday from the Hoover home, by Rev. Mr. Stephens of the Southern Methodist Church. An immense congregation from several counties was present to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of their friend. Burial in the Hoover family graveyard. The pall bearers were George P. Edgar, Dr. H. C. Solter, Fred C. Allen, H. Kelmenson, Marion Burr, Dr. E. G. Herold, W. C. Householder and Frank R. Hill.

We watched him suffer day by day
It caused us bitter grief
To see him slowly fade away
And could not give relief.
His weary hours and days of pain
His troubled nights are passed,
And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest at last.

'Tis sweet to know we will meet again
Where parting is no more,
And our dear husband and Dad
we loved so well,
Has only gone before.

God knows how much we miss him
He counts the tears we shed,
And whispers, "Hush he only sleeps,
Your dear one is not dead."

Some day, some time, our eyes shall see,
The face we loved so well,
Some day, some time, his hand
we'll clasp,
And never say farewell.

Think of him still as the same, I say:

And opens them in a fairer land,

The sun that sets shall rise once more
And we shall live a life sublime
Resplendent, on that wondrous shore.

'Tis hard to break the tender chord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words
"Must we forever part?"
Dearest loved ones, we have laid thee
In thy peaceful grave's embrace.
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy loving face.

We miss thee from our home, dear ones,
We miss the from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hands
Thy fond and loving care;
Our home is dark without thee
We miss the every where.

One by one earth's ties are broken
As we see our love decay,
And the hopes so fondly cherished
Brighten out to pass away.
One by one, our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Wait the loved ones gone before.

Jesus, while our hearts are bleeding
O'er the spoils that death has won,
We would at this solemn parting
Calmly say, "Thy will be done."
Tho' cast down, we're not forsaken,
Tho' afflicted, not alone;
Thou didst give and Thou hast taken,
Blessed Lord—Thy will be done.

I cannot, and I will not say
That he is dead! He is just away.
With a cherry smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown
land,
And left us dreaming how very fair,
It must be, since he lingers there.
I think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here
Think of him still as the same. I say
He is not dead—he is just Away!

Trooper Numa Helsabeck, who investigated, said that the Gutshall machine was traveling north on U. S. Route 11 and the van was going south when they collided nearly headon. Both machines were demolished and potatoes were scattered all over the vicinity. The Gutshall truck ended up beside the highway, headed in the opposite direction from which it had been traveling. The truck was knocked loose from the trailer, left the road, and burned up. The trailer was left across the road.

The accident happened, the trooper said, about five oclock on a straight stretch of road about a mile south of Mint Spring. It happened on a two-lane highway.

Another student was reported to have been in the Gutshall truck at the time of the collision but a search for him was unsuccessful.

'Tis hard to break the tender chord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words
"Must we forever part?"
Dearest loved ones, we have laid thee
In thy peaceful grave's embrace.
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy loving face,

We miss thee from our home, dear ones,
We miss the from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face:
We miss thy kind and willing hands
Thy fond and loving care;
Our home is dark without thee
We miss the every where.

One by one earth's ties are broken
As we see our love decay,
And the hopes so fondly cherished
Brighten but to pass away.
One by one our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Wait the loved ones gone before.

Jesus, while our hearts are bleeding
O'er the spoils that death has won,
We would at this solemn parting
Calmly say, "Thy will be done."
Tho' cast down, we're not forsaken,
Tho' afflicted, not alone;
Thou didst give and Thou hast taken,
Blessed Lord—Thy will be done.

Blessed Lord, Thy will be done.

Moore

Of Ernest Newton Moore

In the death of Ernest Newton Moore on February 10, 1942, at the home of his daughter, Mrs Harry Nixon, Meadow View, Virginia, the community and Methodist church at Dunmore lost one of its influential and most consecrated members, and this section of West Virginia has lost one of its loyal citizens.

Ernest N. Moore was born at the old Moore homestead at Dunmore, on January 5, 1856, and lived his entire life near the old home. He was the son of the late Isaac and Alcinda Arbogast Moore. Of his father's family there were five sons and two daughters. Harry M. Moore is the only surviving member.

The funeral service was conducted from the Dunmore Methodist church by his pastor, Rev. Quade A. Arbogast, assisted by Rev. Fred Oxendale of Marlinton. His body was laid to rest in t[illegible] family plot in the Gl[illegible] Hill Cemetery. All the members of his family were present except Mrs. S. B. Hannah, of Florence, Arizona, and Miss Eloise Moore of Charleston.

The many beautiful floral offerings were eloquent of the love and esteem of his family and friends.

At the early age of eleven years Mr Moore was converted and joined the Methodist church at Greenbank under the ministry of Rev. C. A. Joyce. And thus he was actively identified with church work during his long life, with the exception of the last two or three years when he was prevented by illness to attend church services. Most particularly was this true of Sunday School work, having served well and faithfully as Sunday School superintendent for fifty-two years. He was devoted to his church, and was always ready to contribute of his means to support the various interests of the same. As long as his health permitted, he was always found in his place in the sanctuary on the Lord's Day.

His character, either as a man or a christian, can best be described by saying it was solid. In any thing that he did he was governed by the dictates of a calm and deliberate judgment, aided by a steady faith in God. His exemplary life was such that his entire family—six daughters and two sons—are all members of the church.

His testimony was always clear and his faith unswerving, leaving behind the reality of the "Life that is had with Christ in God."

Andrew was an excellent young man. Though quite young when his father died with the advice of his mother he took charge of the farm and handled it well showing the business ability of his ancestors.

When about thirteen years of age he was converted and joined the Presbyterian Church and we have reasons to believe that he made an honest effort to discharge his duty. During his several weeks of suffering he was patient, showing a spirit of cheerfulness and as the end came near was perfectly resigned to meet the call of his Master.

A place is vacant in the home,
A loved one has journed on.
May we meet the son and brother,
In that brighter home above.

As I looked at the little body tonight in its little casket it seemed to me I could see a loving smile on its lips as I have seen so many times before when it was in health. And I came home wondering if the Son of Man would come to night. How many of us in Stony Bottom could say I am ready Lord. My dear friends and my dear children and childrens' children think this serious matter over and get ready for death. Let us not think but lets act.

BE READY

Therefore be ye also ready for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh.

It may be when the midnight
Is heavy on the land
The black waves lying dumbly,
Along the dreary sand,
When moonless night draws closer
Above the sleeping sea,
When all are slumbering soundly
And no one thinks of me.

Be ready every moment
Be robed and sanctified
For quickly I will claim you
My own beloved bride,
In sweet and pleasant union
We there shall ever be
And dwell in bliss together
Through all eternity.
